

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION FOR MUSEUM VOLUNTEERS

What is AAMV?

The American Association for Museum Volunteers (AAMV) is a national association representing over 1,000,000 volunteers in all categories of museums. It is the sole source of museum-volunteering information and networking in the country. AAMV is affiliated with the American Association of Museums (AAM) and the World Federation of Friends of Museums (WFFM).

AAMV...

- Promotes professional standards of volunteerism.
- Provides a forum for the exchange of ideas and information.
- Offers opportunities for continuing education through panel discussions and workshops at local, regional and national conferences.
- Encourages volunteers and volunteer managers to become familiar with projects and programs both locally and nationally.
- Informs and represents volunteers in advocacy for tax benefits and other legislation at local and national levels.
- Accomplishes these goals in cooperation with museum directors, staff and boards of trustees.
